RAIN DEARTH, IF NOT BROKEN SHORTLY, WILL BRING FAMINE

Drought In Central China Unprecedented

FIGURES GIVEN
January Rainfall Only 6.7 Millimeters

BY DAVID ARABIE
(Financial Editor)

As the weeks roll by the fear that China will be visited by a severe famine this year is slowly becoming a reality, and it is now almost certain that the growing crops will be greatly ruined by the lack of winter rain. This year the winter rain has been remarkably deficient and the crops are withering away. The loss that this will cause China is going to be immense.

The next crop of Chinese wheat, rapeseeds, broadbeans and rice will be extremely poor. The thirty million tons invested in the four milling business in this country will again for another season yield no profits unless the price of American wheat is such as to enable the Chinese mills to import and grind it into flour to be placed at a fair price on the Chinese market.

An idea of the very severe drought experienced can be obtained by a comparison, for instance, of the rainfall recorded at Shanghai and Hankow during the past four months with three previous years.

In October 1919 the rainfall at Shanghai totaled 37 millimeters, in the same month the following year it registered 54 and in October last 49 millimeters.

In November, 1919, 28 millimeters fell, 26 in October 1920, 32 in 1921 and 10 in November 1922.

EXTRAORDINARY DRY MONTH
In December last Shanghai received altogether 3.8 millimeters, against 15 in the same month in 1921, 125 in 1920 and 29 in 1919.

In January of this year we had only 6.7 millimeters, which has been one of the lowest recorded for very many years. In January 1922 the rainfall was 726 millimeters, January 1921, 17 and in the previous January 27.6 millimeters. Last month's average is extraordinarily low as the mean rainfall for January should be 50.9 millimeters, based on the results of 50 years' observation at Sincowai. It has been an astonishingly dry winter season for the Shanghai district, and practically a similar deficiency has been the rule in the other districts.

The mean rainfall in October is about 94, November 77 and December 20 millimeters, but during the period October, 1922 to January 1923 no single month has enjoyed anything like the mean rainfall.

We can extend our scope of vision a little further, and take the rainfall recorded in Hankow which is in the important Hunan district, where the growth of the crops has been retarded to a point which looks very ominous. In October last 14 millimeters of rain fell against 99 millimeters in October, 1921, 74 in 1920 and 26 in a similar month in 1919.

In November last, Hankow registered 5 millimeters against 30 in 1920 and 28 in the year previous, while in December no rain fell, the quantities for 1919, 1920 and 1921 being 13, 42 and 18 respectively.

Last month there was no rainfall until January 15, when rain fell for three or four days and then ceased. Last year in January Hankow received 48 millimeters, in 1921, 21 millimeters and 1920 some 76 millimeters. Perhaps the condition in the interior may be worse.

Should the drought continue for another week it is quite likely that the export of rice will be prohibited from Anhwei and Kiangse provinces, the Chinese Government already having placed an embargo on the exports of rice from the Hunan province.

WHY RICE WILL SUFFER.
The drought will indirectly affect the rice crop in China. The Chinese farmer uses a kind of grass known as "clover grass" for the fertilization of his rice soil, and the lack of rain has dried up this grass and made the soil hard. The yield will, therefore, be poor. It might be mentioned that the rice-sowing season begins in June, so

DAIRY MAN FINED FOR SECOND TIME WITHIN A WEEK

Reduces Water Percentage, However, From 33 To 7 Percent

A Chinese dairy keeper, Dai Yui-soong, proprietor of the Clover dairy, 454 Avenue Haig, who was convicted and fined for distributing adulterated milk a week ago, was again before the Mixed Court yesterday.

Mr. V. Starling, of the Health Department, testified that an analysis of milk taken from one of the dairy delivery-coolies showed 7 percent of added water.

The defendant protested to the Court that he was doing his best to keep the coolies from adulterating the milk, but that it was a very difficult thing to control.

Assessor Blackburn, in giving sentence, remarked that the accused had reduced the percentage of water in his product from 33 percent to 7 percent, so he would only be fined $50 on this occasion.

BIG EARTHQUAKE RECORDED; IN MID PACIFIC, BELIEF

Instruments Here Disturbed, But Location Not Determined

Exclusive Dispatch To THE CHINA PRESS
New York, Feb. 4.—Revised scientific calculations place the earthquake, reported today, off the coast of lower California, or in the vicinity of the Marshall Islands.

San Francisco, Feb. 4.—An earthquake of tremendous proportions was recorded here today. None of the scientists was able to locate it, but it is believed to be off the coast of South America.

QUAKES RECORDED HERE

The Sincowai Observatory has noted six earthquakes and Father Gherzi said yesterday that two were violent shocks. One was recorded at 5 o'clock Friday morning.

Greenwich time, with the other and more violent, coming at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. This was of six hours duration.

Sincowai could not fix the location of the center of the second shock because it started very slowly and the record is very indistinct. Father Gherzi expressed the opinion that the center was probably in the Pacific off the Coast South of Alaska.

The first of the violent shocks was located 4,100 kilometers northeast of Shanghai, probably in the neighborhood of Kamchatka. The second was not so easily located, but Father Gherzi estimated its center as 3,900 kilometers from Shanghai.

NEW FIGHTING BREAKS OUT IN SOUTH; SUN'S FORCE GAINING

PEOPLE IN PANIC
Wealthy Refugees Seek Safety At Hongkong

(China Press Service)
Canton, Feb. 4.—The troops of General Shen Hung-ying and General Liu Chin-hwan came into conflict in the region of the East River on Friday night. General Liu's forces, which are loyal to Doctor Sun Yat-sen, succeeded in repelling the invaders who advanced on Sheklung in two columns.

Large numbers of wounded Kwangsi troops were sent back to Canton yesterday. According to them, General Liu's troops supported by the armies of General Yao Yu-ping and General Yang Kun-yu, the latter being General Chen Chung-ming's former lieutenant, launched a surprise attack on the Kwangsi forces immediately upon their arrival at Hsintang after a fatiguing journey.

The battle of Hsintang was full of dramatic incidents culminating in two wings of Kwangsi troops under the command of Chen Tien-ta being rounded up in a jungle and finally disarmed. General Shen has sent another army under General Tang Chin-yan to the East River for the relief of the Kwangsi troops.

The outbreak of hostilities on the East River has caused a panic among the populace here. Chinese shop-keepers are busy putting up their shutters. There is a general exodus of Chinese to Hongkong. Foreign battleships are aligned on the Pearl River in readiness for emergencies.

The Kwangsi generals here attach much significance to the removal of the naval headquarters at the Pearl Island to the cruiser Hai Chi by order of Mr. Wen Shui-teh, Commander-in-chief of the Southern Squadron.

It is reported that the local organizations have requested the naval officers to refrain from bombarding the Kwangsi troops gathered at the Kwanyinshan hill, in the event of war breaking out in Canton, for fear that the city may be ruined.

"LISTENIN' IN" WILL BE SUNG TONIGHT FOR RADIOPHONE

Frank Shaw To Warble Wireless Song And "Cowbells"

CLAUDE MCGUIRE, ASTOR PLAYER, SCORES WITH SAXAPHONE

Tonight's Radio Program

Song will reign supreme on the broadcasting program sent through the ether from the roof of the Dollar building tonight.

XRO—that is the radio call of the broadcasting station will present:

Mr. Frank Shaw, the comedian with the Golden Gate Quartette at the New Carlton, will introduce "Listenin' In," the song composed by Mr. Mena Silas with words by Mr. E. P. Graham Barrow especially for the radio.

Mr. Shaw will also sing "Cowbells," and "He's Her He: She's His She," his two most popular "out" songs.

Mr. Roy Collins will sing the two songs with which he has scored his greatest success at the Carlton—"I've Been A Good Pal To You," and "Blue."

Mr. Ray Lenzen, the Carlton pianist, will accompany both Mr. Shaw and Mr. Collins.

Now something will be broadcast by THE CHINA PRESS.

Several of the latest phonograph selections will be played. Tune in at 8 o'clock!

Despite the cold weather and the falling snow last night well over a thousand Shanghaianders were able to enjoy a musical program and hear the latest news from all over the globe without moving from their fireplaces; they have little radio sets in their homes.

And despite the snow and other seemingly unfavorable climatic conditions last night's concert was perfect in every detail. Modulation was excellent and the French wireless station and a number of amateurs telephoned during and after the concert that they had heard everything clearly and distinctly.

The feature of last night's concert, broadcasted from the roof of the Dollar building at 3 Canton Road, was the saxophone playing of Mr. Claude McGuire of the Astor House grill jazz band. Mr. McGuire, accompanied on the piano by Mr. Earl Currens, pianist and leader of the Astor jazz-kings, played "Macphail" and "Homesick."

Both tunes are splendid saxophone numbers and when Mr. McGuire touched lip and finger to his instruments one of the largest audiences he has ever played to enjoyed every note.

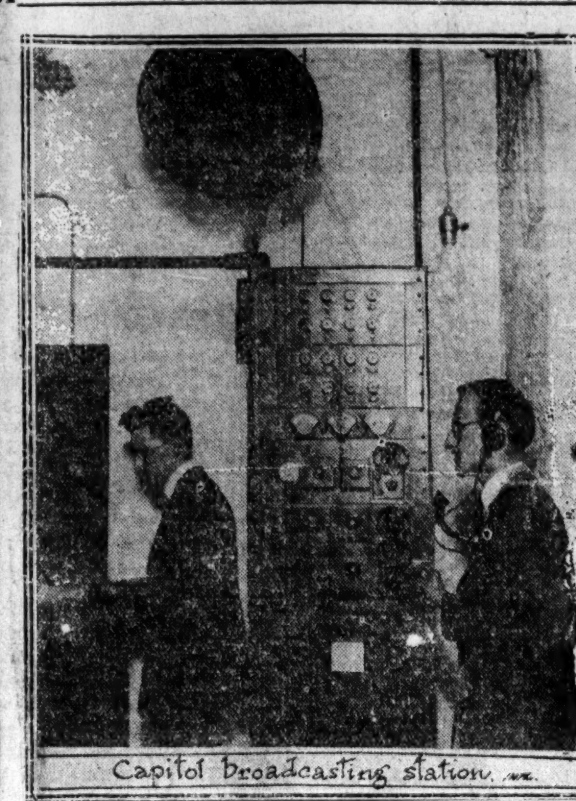

The weird moaning sound, pregnant with unuttered grief, which is the predominant note in "Macphail," carries with the utmost clarity over the radio-phone and calls forth the same strange reaction. And in "Homesick" the music, as played by Mr. McGuire symbolises homesickness as nothing else does. Mr. McGuire will repeat in the near future.

"LISTENIN' IN"
Because of Mr. Mena Silas' cold it was impossible for him to sing "Listenin' In," the song composed by him especially for the radio, last night and its introduction was delayed until tonight. "Listenin' In" will be sung by Mr. Frank Shaw, the man with the funny face, who is featured every night with the Golden Gate Quartette at the New Carlton on Bubbling Well Road. The song was written by Mr. Silas with words by Mr. E. P. Graham Barrow under the inspiration of their first appearance before a radiophone transmitter, and Mr. Silas planned to introduce it himself at last night's concert. The change in the weather, however, gave him a bad frog in the throat that makes it impossible for him to sing for several days.

In addition to the radio song

Secretary Of Exchange Testifies In Di Villa Case

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The testimony of the Secretary of the Exchange, Mr. S. Saguir, was given yesterday at the Mixed Court in the case wherein the Viscount E. M. di Villa, former manager of the Far Eastern Bank, is charged with conspiring to defraud the International Gold and Silver Currency Stock and Produce Exchange of $50,000. It is alleged that Mr. di Villa conspired with one Nien Sung-tung in representing to the Exchange that the cost of its registration at the Italian Consulate was $100,000 instead of $50,000. The complaint was made by Mr. S. Saguir, assignee of the exchange.

The case is being heard by Japanese Assessor Tanaka and Magistrate Li and Mr. Kikuchi is appearing for the prosecution, while Mr. J. G. Priestwood represents the defendant.

Mr. Sauto, the only witness examined yesterday, stated that he was secretary of the International Exchange, and that he had received the registration fee of $100,000 from Mr. di Villa. He stated that he had given the receipt to Mr. di Villa, and that he had also given the receipt to Mr. Nien Sung-tung, who was then acting as secretary of the exchange.

Mr. Sauto, continuing, stated that Mr. di Villa had shown him the paying in book of the bank, showing the registration figure to be $50,024.17 instead of $100,024. Mr. Sauto also showed him, he said, that the exchange rate given on the receipt was wrong and that the Consulate employed a fixed rate of Lire 3 to $1. The date on which he went to the Consulate was July 7, 1922.

Mr. di Villa had paid the money to the Italian Consulate, Mr. Sauto said, and was at that time vice-president of the Exchange and manager of the Far Eastern Bank. He sent in notice of the registration fee after he had paid it and everything in that connection had been left in his hands. The Exchange had a deposit with the Far Eastern Bank and the $100,000 was withdrawn from this. A bank cash order signed by Mr. di Villa and Nien Sung-tung was produced.

Witness, went on to state that after July 7 of last year an investigation was made and documents were borrowed from the bank for this purpose. On going to the bank to investigate, the witness said, it was found that sums of $25,000 each had been paid into the accounts of Mr. di Villa and Nien. The witness said it was his opinion that $50,000 had been paid to the Consulate and that $25,000 each went to the defendant and Nien.

He testified further that he had asked Mr. di Villa where the amount had gone and defendant had replied that he gave it to Mr. Manno. He asked for a receipt, but Mr. di Villa failed to produce one. Later, when the bank went into liquidation, Mr. Manno made a statement for $50,000 and from this fact, the witness submitted, it was evident that the money had not been paid over.

Mr. Priestwood began his cross-examination of the witness and the case was then resumed until Tuesday morning.

LAUSANNE CONFERENCE FAILS; SITUATION NOW FRAUGHT WITH DANGER

Allied Delegates Make Every Conceivable Concession, But Turks Remain Obdurate; Curzon And Other Delegates Leave For Home

INTENSE DISAPPOINTMENT IS FELT
Demand That Angora Government Should Assume Old Regime's Obligation Was Rock On Which Parleys Spilt At Last Moment

Exclusive Dispatch To THE CHINA PRESS
Lausanne, Feb. 5.—The Near East Conference has ended in rupture, the Turkish delegation refusing to accept the treaty offered by the Allies. Lord Curzon and the other Allied delegates have left Lausanne.

(Reuters Service)
Lausanne, Feb. 5.—The fate of the Treaty was in the balance until within five minutes of the time fixed for Marquess Curzon's departure. The Allies whittled down the judicial capitulations until they were almost unrecognizable and greatly modified. The Allied proposal was that a foreign jurist should hold a watching brief in cases where foreigners are concerned but the Turks made a counter proposal reducing their utility to a vanishing point. The war indemnity was reduced from 15,000,000 Turkish pounds gold to 12,000,000 Turkish pounds gold and other substantial concessions were ineffectually made.

(Reuters Service)
Lausanne, Feb. 5.—There is intense disappointment at the last moment failure of the Conference after two and a half months' negotiations. The French, Italian and American representatives made a supreme effort to move Ismet Pasha but found him adamant towards the terms with regard to the judicial regime affording guarantees to foreigners, and the economic questions.

It appears that Ismet Pasha accepted Marquess Curzon's offer at the final discussion that, provided arbitration by the League of Nations for Mosul were retained in the treaty, the League's investigation should be delayed for a year conditionally on the status quo being maintained and the vilayet not being disturbed.

(Reuters Service)
Lausanne, Feb. 5.—Ismet Pasha, interviewed by Reuters's correspondent, emphatically declared that the failure of the Conference was due to the economic clauses of the Treaty and primarily to the Allied demand that the Turkish Government should recognize all the contracts and concessions of their predecessors. He urged the Government's ignorance of the nature of these and expressed surprise that the Conference should have been wrecked on such grounds. He declared that the matter of the judicial regime accorded with the Allied proposals.

The chief Turkish delegate was very earnest and seemed upset at Marquess Curzon's departure. He apparently realizes that the situation is fraught with very great danger.

(Reuters Service)
Lausanne, Feb. 4.—Ismet Pasha declares that he does not consider the Conference ended. He is awaiting an official communication on the matter.

The principal French delegate, M. Bompard, is remaining at Lausanne.

(Reuters Service)
Lausanne, Feb. 4.—(6 p.m.)—The Turkish reply expresses conviction that the unanimity of views between the Allies and the Turkish delegation on fundamental points is sufficient for the establishment of peace.

It declares that the Turks are agreeing to great sacrifices for the preservation of peace. They accept the western frontier as proposed by the Allies and, in order to testify their goodwill, do not insist on obtaining Karagach and the railway thence to Kuleli-Burgas and Demotika. Briefly, they renounce the frontier of 1915.

The Turks renounce the policy with regard to the closing of the Straits and agree to their demilitarization.

They surrender their claim to maintain a garrison in Gallipoli and agree that the cemeteries in the Anzac Zone shall remain undisturbed.

The Turks suggest that the future of Mosul should be decided between Britain and Turkey within a year.

It agrees that Germany and Austria shall not be represented on financial and economic organizations.

Turkey takes note of "the acceptance in principle of the payment of a sufficient sum on account of reparation for the damages caused by Greek aggression.

The reply finally says that fundamental questions, constituting eighty percent of the whole Treaty, have been solved and therefore there is no serious obstacle to the conclusion of peace. It proposes, consequently, the conclusion of peace by affixing signatures to the foot of the essential questions on which agreement has been reached, negotiations to continue by part of the delegations remaining in suspense. The reply adds that the Turks will only agree to these sacrifices on condition that peace is signed.

"Listen In" Will Be Sung Tonight For Radiophone

Mr. Shaw tonight will sing two of the songs that have made him famous—or which he has made famous—at the New Carlton, "Cowbells," and "He's Her He, She's His She." Both are unquestioned hits and will give Shanghai listeners-in a real treat tonight.

Mr. Roy Collins, the powerful bass singer with the Golden Gate Quartette, will also sing two of his most popular songs. The first will be a ballad that has scored a big hit at the Carlton, "I've Seen A Good Pal To You," followed by another song success, "Blue." Mr. Collins' voice is one of the most powerful ever heard in Shanghai and aided and abetted by science radio statistics figure he will be heard in Tientsin, Hongkong and other China cities without difficulty.

Mr. Ray Lenz, the popular ivory tickler from the Carlton Orchestra will accompany both Mr. Shaw and Mr. Collins. His playing has been one of the best that has been heard over the radio in Shanghai and fully as clear and distinct by radio as it is at the Carlton.

Other musical numbers will also be given on tonight's program as well as the latest local and world news bulletins broadcast by THE CHINA PRESS.

Among the many who listened in last night was Mr. J. H. Taggart, General Manager of the Hongkong Hotels Company, who listened in on a set in Mr. E. G. Osborn's room at the Astor House.

Mr. Taggart has become quite a radio fan as a result of the success of the broadcasting in Shanghai and it is expected that within the near future the various hotels controlled by the Hongkong Hotels Company will be equipped with complete radio sets so that guests may listen in each night.

JAPANESE INTEREST

As proof of the growing interest in radio in Shanghai last night's visitors at the broadcasting station also included Mr. Y. Ikeda of the Eastern News Agency who visited the station at the request of local Japanese newspapers to write a story on the radio for their readers. Mr. Ikeda was extremely interested in the working of the latest marvel of science to be brought to China through the enterprise of THE CHINA PRESS and Radio Corporation of China and expressed the conviction that it would be only a short time until a large number of members of the local Japanese community would have receiving sets.

Prof. C. H. Robertson and Dr. John Y. Lee of the Y.M.C.A. left for Nanking on Sunday with complete broadcasting equipment as well as receiving equipment and within one or two days—possibly tomorrow—it will be possible to get into radio communication with them. It was Prof. Robertson's and Dr. Lee's intention when they left Shanghai to set up their station in Nanking for demonstration purposes and to talk back and forth with the station on top of the Dollar building. Full details of the interesting tests to be made will be published in THE CHINA PRESS within the course of the next few days. Clear talk and uninterrupted musical numbers heard in Nanking, or vice versa, will prove the last nail necessary to clinch the conviction of all radio fans in China that long distance communication in China via wireless is not only feasible and something to be looked forward to, but an actuality of the immediate future.

One of the interesting and significant phases of the program last night was the fact that several amateurs called up during the program and requested favorite musical numbers. One amateur with a set in the Ben Building wanted his favorite Harry Lauder song. Another requested a certain orchestral piece, and still another wanted "Kitten On The Keys." The piano solos. It turned out to be a request night on the radio—something new in entertainment.

Radio To Warn Ships Of Gales In Caribbean

(China Press Correspondence) Washington, by mail.—Special weather bulletin service for the benefit of shipping in the Caribbean sea has been arranged for by the United States Weather Bureau through the radio service of a commercial steamship company. The bulletins will be flashed twice daily from the company's station on Swan Island, in the western Caribbean.

The morning bulletin will be sent out only during the hurricane season which lasts from June through November, and will be in two parts. The first part will contain weather observations from ten selected stations throughout the West Indies and nearby coasts. The second part will contain daily forecasts of wind and weather for the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean west of longitude 73 degrees, and advice and warnings regarding the location and movements of hurricanes in warm weather and "northerners" in winter.

The night bulletin will be broadcast daily throughout the year and will contain forecasts, advice and warnings similar to those included in the second part of the morning bulletins.

Volunteers At Hongkong May Have Radio Corps

The Hongkong Volunteer Defence Corps will soon have a Wireless Section attached to its Engineer Company. The originator of the scheme is Lieut. R. Melville Smith, a keen wireless enthusiast and he has succeeded in getting the authorities interested in the scheme. Funds have been voted for the purchase of the necessary equipment, and no time is being wasted in sending the order home for it.

Mr. Smith chatted interestingly on his scheme to a China Mail reporter. He spoke enthusiastically of the interesting week-ends which could be spent in the country with such an outfit. He pictured the fascination of being able to speak with Headquarters through the wireless telephone from say, Fanning, and receive "back talk." They would also be able to receive messages probably from as far out as Aden, and even hear the big English stations, provided the conditions were favorable. Besides being fascinating, with its element of mystery, wireless was also most instructive for those of an electrical turn of mind, and just the thing to be included in the training syllabus of the Engineer Company, if it was to be kept up to date and the interest of its members maintained.

Running the searchlights at Belchers, besides the usual military training, was all the Company had to offer its members at present, and it could not sustain the esprit de corps which was so essential to efficiency. Wireless, he was confident, was one of the things which would help to give the necessary impetus to the revival of interest in the Company, which although not actually dead at present, was very nearly so.

Of course, Mr. Smith proceeded, he could not hope to begin from the very bottom and import the elementary knowledge of electricity before coming to wireless work. It would be too gigantic a task to attempt, and would take a tremendous long time. Enrolment in the Wireless Section of the Engineer Company would therefore be confined to those who already had some knowledge of electricity. Some of the members at present in the Engineer Company who were qualified, could be transferred to the Wireless Section. "But, of course," Mr. Smith said, "it would not be confined to members of the Corps only. We want some new blood also. Anyone with the necessary qualifications (and those will not be placed too high), will be welcome to join." He felt confident that new members would not be long in coming once everything was shipshape and the Wireless Section properly organized.

Mr. Smith wound up with the announcement that he hoped soon within the next two months, to give a "talk" on wireless, which the public would be welcome to attend. He would try to leave out all technicalities as far as possible, and to speak in plain language on the subject, with the aid of a receiving outfit rigged up probably at Volunteer Headquarters.

Successful Stock Show Feature At Opening Of New French Abattoirs

A fancy live stock show, the first of its kind ever held in China and a highly successful experiment, was the principal feature at the official opening yesterday of the new Municipal abattoirs in Boulevard de Montigny, French Concession.

In the neighborhood of 300 blooded, finely groomed animals—including cattle, sheep, pigs, buffalo and goats—exhibited by both Chinese and foreign owners, made up the show and created great interest among the many visitors to the new plant.

Prizes were awarded the best three groups of entries in each class and the satisfaction of the various owners over the success of the exhibition was such as to guarantee a much more extensive competition next year, when it is proposed to hold a second show.

First, second and third prizes for imported beef cattle yesterday went respectively to the Cully Dairy, the Rocelawn Dairy and Shanghai Kong Ky. The prize-winning owners of Chinese beefs were Yu Ching-fah, first; Chen Shin, second and third. Chen Shin took first honors in the exhibit of veal animals and Siao Foh-seng both second and third.

Over 100 head of sheep were placed on show and the prizes went to Long Chin, Zeng Li and Long Ky. Ye Zeng-chin and Ty Ghen were nominated the most successful exhibitors of goats, while in the buffalo class O Foh-tah secured first and second prizes and O Gul-tah third.

An exceptionally lot of fine pigs, both imported and Chinese, were shown and received much attention. First honors for foreign stock in this division went to Mr. Chen Shin, who exhibited about half a dozen fancy porkers imported from America. Mr. Morris took second prize with some fine specimens brought from Canada and the Inshallah Dairy (Mr. Evans), exhibiting, particularly, a fine Australian boar, was awarded third prize. Among the exhibitors of Chinese pigs, an excellent lot, Mr. Dang took first and second prizes and Wei Ky third.

The Judges of the show were Dr. S. W. Pratt, Dr. T. Edgar and Mr. Chapeau.

The new French Municipal abattoirs, which are probably the finest in China, were officially opened at noon yesterday by Mr. de la Prade, French Vice-Consul, who remarked on the happiness of the thought of holding a stock show in connection with the inauguration of the new plant. The suggestion of the exhibition came from Mr. P. Le Bris, of the French Municipal Council.

The abattoirs have been constructed on the most modern lines and are of a size which will permit the handling of a great many more animals than at present are required for slaughter. The killing rooms for the various classes of animals are all on one level, reached by gradual inclines, while underneath are steam heated stabling accommodations for about 2,000 pigs, 200 cattle, 200 buffalo, 200 goats and 200 sheep. From the pig stables—pork being the principal item—both lifts and runways lead to the upper floor, where two huge rooms are equipped for killing. Concrete tanks, piped full of boiling water and with six killing troughs radiating from each, are stationed through these rooms, which, if necessary, can show a killing capacity of over 2,000 animals a day.

Cattle, sheep, goats and buffalo each have their respective killing rooms, situated above their stables and each of the slaughtering departments is specially designed and equipped for quick removal of refuse and for being kept washed down and in the most sanitary condition.

Another feature is a system of overhead carriers, which permit easy and rapid movement of the larger carcasses to any part of the plant.

A special killing room has been constructed for the use of Mohammedans, where their meat may be prepared in accordance with their creed.

Another part of the plant is a specially constructed incinerator for the destruction of condemned meat and refuse. It is planned also to add cold storage rooms so that meats may be stored by the butchers until required for the market. The new abattoirs are in charge of Superintendent Founteun.

Rain Dearth May Bring New Famine

The effect on this crop will not be direct.

To speak only of the Kiangse province, the rapeseed crop in the higher district has faded away, and in the lower district the growth is in a very unhealthy state. Even if there is good rainfall from now on the yield will be far below last season.

WHEAT CROP
In most part of the Kiangse province the wheat is still alive but will die away if there is no good rainfall within the next fortnight. In the other parts of China the crop conditions are practically the same.

The exports of rapeseeds from China in 1921, the last year that the returns were compiled for, were valued at Tls. 4,396,873, the quantity exported being 1,787,996 piculs of rapeseeds, and when it is recalled that the exports of rapeseeds the next season will certainly be very much smaller than this and prices naturally on the high level, Japan is the largest buyer of Chinese rapeseeds, the exports to that country last year being about 400,000 piculs while in 1921 it was 1,122,198 piculs. In an average season we ship abroad 600,000 piculs of rapeseeds, and when it is known that the next season's crop is almost certain to be worse than the last one it can be imagined how the export of this particular product is going to suffer.

The producing center of rapeseeds and beans is the Kiangse province, Changsha for rice and Wuhsu for wheat, rice, beans and peas. Broadbeans will be affected, though not to the same extent as wheat, rapeseeds and rice, as this product does not require the same moisture. Broadbeans are exported from Hankow chiefly, Europe being the best customer, although fair quantities are taken from Shanghai annually by Japan.

MUSSOLINI OPTIMIST
(Italian Wireless Through Reuters)
Rome, Feb. 1.—Speaking at the Cabinet meeting today Premier Mussolini declared that he was not alarmed over the international situation, which he thought was improving rather than worsening. His optimism has created surprise in political circles where it was believed that war clouds were becoming visible both in the Near East and Germany.

Premier Mussolini also announced that the Government will organize a labor council with power to deal with wage disputes. The Cabinet further decided upon the establishment of several steamship companies.

The Premier stated that he is negotiating with the Brazilian Government for the linking up of Italy with that country's cable.

Friday's Game, 5:30 at Rowing Club, American vs. Stripes.

BY TOMMY GRAFTON
The Public School quintet surprised the Stripes in last night's Foreign League game at the Rowing Club, easily winning in the last ten minutes by a score of 40 to 23, after the Stripes had rallied in the second period and come within a point of tying the score.

The Public School took the lead at the start, and with Brockett shooting accurately into the baskets at close range, the School score mounted rapidly, until the Public School was leading 16 to 4. Then Ross pulled the Stripes together, and at half-time his team was trailing a 16 to 10 score.

There was a good deal of rough playing in the second half, and Referee Goldman was called upon several times to separate players. The Stripes started off with a fast attack, and pushed up to within a point of the winners, but Brockett and Lewis again came through, and the game ended with the School team in the lead by 17 points.

Brockett and Lewis were the individual stars, the former netting 13 attempts, most of them easy tries from under the basket. Lewis was in the thick of the fight, and contributed to the scoring by timely passing and careful shooting. "Chimp" Mahon, the Public School star guard, was in great form, and guarded Brown closely.

Ross was the big man for the Stripes, scoring six goals, and brought his season's total to 67, three ahead of Coulicher, the Blue forward.

Tonight the Bearcats meet the American School five in the battle to practically decide the second position. Both teams are in good shape, and a hard game is expected. Last night's summary follows:

Lewis 11 Ross 6
Jesu 11 Brown 6
Brockett 11 Johnston 6
Mahon 11 Cuda 6

QUAYLE IS TO CAPTAIN INTERPORT

Police Football Star Will Make Trip To Hongkong

TORRY IS "V. C."

Gabbutt, Manager, To Guide Training; No More Matches

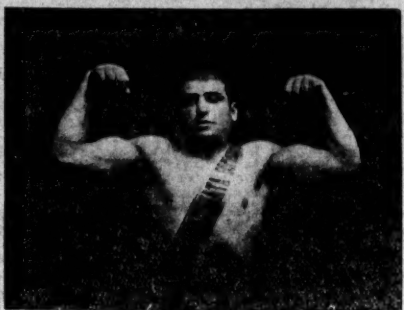

There will not be any further Interport trial games before the team leaves for Hongkong on February 14.

Mr. J. F. Gabbutt, who has been appointed team manager and secretary, has now taken charge of the players for training purposes, and it has been arranged that the members of the team, together with such other local players as care to join, shall meet at the Police ground at 5 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, before their departure.

After the Interport trial match on Saturday last, the team held an informal meeting in the committee room of the Shanghai Recreation Club. At this meeting, the question arose as to who was to be Captain of the team, the Association having decided to leave it to the players themselves. The matter was put to the vote, with the result that of the twelve present, five voted for Mr. T. W. R. Wilson, five for Mr. J. A. Quayle, the two remaining votes being divided between two other players. Another vote was taken, with the result that Mr. Quayle, with seven votes, was elected Captain, and Mr. Wilson, with five votes, Vice-Captain. The actual eleven to represent Shanghai in the Interport game

Zebra And Glenfield Good; Conqueror Dahlia And Shenkoland In Good Gallops

With the lotteries for the I. R. last 1 mile in 2.09-3/5, last 1/2 mile in 1.31-5/5, last 1/4 mile in 1.02-2/5 and last 1/8 mile in 30 seconds.

It is a wonderful performance with the result that some very fast gallops have been done. Of the griffins "Abbeyfield" did a similar distance done some time ago. A faster gallop than this was done by G. L. Ho's "Polar Star" over the same distance in 3.21-2/5 seconds but his last one mile was 2.10-4/5, his last 1/2 of a mile 1.35-1/5 and his last 1/4 of a mile 1.04 seconds. This pony's whole which responded gamely beating time was faster than "Zebra's," Marefield by a length and a half, yet the last three quarters would show the great difference between a gallop and a sprint. Of the old ponies "Conqueror" T. T. Chow's Dan Griffin with Dahlia certainly is coming on white socks, the "Zebra" He wonderfully well. He 1 1/4 in 2.46, finished his 1 1/2 mile in 3.25 with last 1/2 of a mile 1.03-2/5 and last 1/4 in 30-2/5 is as satisfactory as can be desired. "Shenkoland's" 1 1/4 in 2.48-2/5 is also satisfactory.

Business was done 5 to 1 against "Shenkoland" in the Champions. "Symphony," the well-known Tientsin pony, has been doing well with Johnstone up. He did a satisfactory gallop of a mile in 2.13 at the Shanghai Course on Saturday and finished well.

Letters To The Sporting Editor

The Sporting Editor, THE CHINA PRESS, Sir—

Inasmuch as the questions which I am going to place before you and the public are of some importance to the Chinese world of sports, I crave your indulgence to give this letter your full publicity.

I paid 50 cents at the gate of the Chinese Public Recreation Ground to watch the football game between the Tsinghua team and the eleven representing the Recs last Wednesday afternoon, and I found full justice that I should be charged thus, as it was announced in your paper that day that "a small admission fee will be charged at the gate in order to defray a part of the Tsinghua team's travelling expenses."

I went there again yesterday to see the Police team in action. I was charged this time 20 cents for admission. I made inquiries and was informed that admission fee is demanded at every game this season.

I understand that the Chinese Public Recreation Ground was opened by the Chinese Municipal authorities for the benefit of the Chinese public, and has been supported by it. In view of the nature of the organization, I fail to see any necessity for it to charge admission on every game.

Most of the members of the team are business-men and are bona-fide amateurs. They play the game simply for the love of the sport which they had learned to play in their school days.

So far as I know, they never get a cash. But the public who pay and watch the games do not know of it. Are the players not running the risk of their good names, as the public would consider them as professionals?

Several games have been played with local foreign teams this season, and I am sure none of them got any part of the gate receipts, as in most cases they were ignorant of the fact that admission was charged. But even if they knew of it they would not claim their share. Is this a fair proposition to the visiting teams? Is the management of the club doing an honorable thing? What is the object of the organization, anyway? To make money or to do some service to the Chinese community?

I am waiting for an explanation. Yours truly, "Puzzled."

February 5, 1923.

HYGIENIC MACHINE-MADE Cigarettes

OBVIOUSLY MACHINE-MADE CIGARETTES are more HYGIENIC and more CONSISTENTLY WELL MADE than those made by any other process.

In the manufacturing of "CAPSTAN" Cigarettes for instance;

POINT No 1

Pure dust-free tobacco leaf is fed to Modern Machines in Model Factories and no soiled human hand comes into contact with the cigarette during the process of manufacture.

POINT No 2

Machine-Made Cigarettes are uniformly well made. Each paper receives its proper quota of tobacco leaf and is rolled to the correct degree of "tightness." This Uniformity is impossible to attain under any other process.

AMERICAN SCHOOL GIRLS BEATEN BY CATHEDRAL

The Cathedral School girls' basketball team was victorious in the game against the American School yesterday afternoon at the Flowing Club, pulling away from the S. A. S. girls in the final five minutes of play and winning by a score of 42 to 32.

It was a pretty exhibition of basketball, throughout, with both teams scoring frequently. Margaret Boyes was a little too good for the American girls, and scored 15 baskets for the winners. Helen Newton played a grand forward game for the S. A. S., caging 11 goals from the floor and two from the foul line.

The Cathedral School secured the ball on a number of occasions through the brilliant work of the centers, who were quick and managed to get the ball before the American girls could reach the end of the field. The S. A. S. guards, especially Elizabeth Grier, deserve a lot of credit, but they were too small to guard the Cathedral School forwards effectively.

The American School opened the game with a weak line-up and the Cathedral School pushed into an early lead which could not be overcome. The score at half-time was 24 to 16, and although the S. A. S. crept up within a basket of equalizing, in the second half the winners came through at the end, and scored several easy goals.

The summary follows:
Cathedral School American School
M. Boyes 1 Helen Newton
J. Oughton 1 Margaret Smith
Y. Oughton 1 M. Patterson
J. Taylor 1 V. Newland, R. Estes
P. Steward 1 E. Grier
M. Douglas 1 R. Newton, M. Martin

has not finally been decided on, and it is probable that the team will not definitely be chosen till the end of this week.

The Hongkong team to oppose Shanghai in the Interport match will we understand, be as follows:

Swan (Police), Gerrard (H.K. P.C.), Chan (South China), Hudson (Tamar), Stewart (H.K.F.C.), Leung Yuk-tong (South China), Chu Kwong-yung (South China), Forsyth (H.K.F.C.), Begg (H.K. P.C.), Dr. Valentine (Police), and Chan Kwong-yiu (South China).

Reserves: Wynne (King's), McLaren (Police), Valentine (H.K.F.C.) and Ip Kau (South China).

It will be seen that in the actual eleven, the Hongkong Football Club and South China A.C. have five representatives each, the Police two, and H. M. S. Tamar one. The reserves are drawn from the King's Regiment, the H.K.F.C., South China, and the Police, one each.

From what little information is available in Shanghai Hongkong has an especially good right-wing and center forward, and for that reason it is good that the redoubtable "Jimmy" Quayle will be able to make the trip. Quayle is right on top of his form just at present, and with the remainder of the team playing anything like normal, Hongkong will have to arrive hard to get possession of the Shanghai flag.

A miniature of the Hongkong Interport flag has been forwarded to Shanghai by the Honorary Secretary of the Hongkong Football Association. The actual flag is six feet by four, and consists of one white horizontal stripe inside two blue ones. The white stripe is superimposed with the letters "H.K.F.A." The whole effect is very neat, and we can only hope that the original flag will be adorning one of Shanghai's clubhouses within the next few weeks.

AT HIS WIFE'S REQUEST

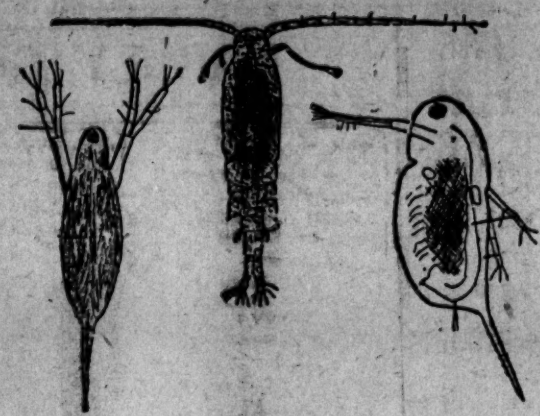

British Soldier in India Tells How Baby's Own Tablets Have Helped Their Infant Son.

Corporal A. L. Golding, of the 1st Batt. Royal Scots, stationed at Trimulgherry, India, writes: "My wife asks me to inform you that she has found Baby's Own Tablets simply invaluable for our baby, now 12 months old, when the child has been troubled with sleeplessness, constipation, teething troubles and feverishness."

Parents everywhere, once they have tried Baby's Own Tablets for their little ones, never resort again to the old-fashioned teething powders and purgatives usually given to children. The Tablets are easy to administer, there being nothing medicinal either in their taste or appearance. They are guaranteed absolutely harmless even to the youngest infant, and give prompt relief in cases of infantile indigestion, constipation, colic, diarrhoea, grip and teething pains. They also expel worms, prevent and relieve colds, quickly induce sound, refreshing and perfectly natural sleep.

Chemists sell Baby's Own Tablets, or post free, 60 cents per vial, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 60 Kiangse Road, Shanghai.

ANIMALS WE DRINK

The above are magnifications of germs found in drinking water. They may be dead if you drink boiled water but even then it would be no pleasant feeling if you knew about it.

There are people who say that they use water ONLY EXTERNALLY but brushing one's teeth requires water and you can not always rely on your boy's statement that the water he brings was properly boiled. For drinking purposes boiled water is not palatable, while distilled water taken regularly has been declared unhealthy by prominent medical men.

WHY NOT ELIMINATE THE RISK OF GETTING DISEASE GERMS INTO THE SYSTEM BY USING A GENUINE

BERKEFELD FILTER

THE IMPORTANT PART OF THE FILTER IS THE CYLINDER OR CANDLE AS IT IS CALLED IN SHANGHAI. IN THE GENUINE BERKEFELD FILTERS THIS CYLINDER IS MADE OF INFUSORIAL EARTH.

The water passes through the walls from outside to the inside leaving all impurities on the external surface. The impurities gradually produce a slimy coating on the outside of the cylinder and thus reduce the output of the filter. All that is required, to restore the original filtering capacity is to carefully brush the surface of the cylinder while holding it under a tap. To secure a perfectly sterile filtrate periodical sterilising of the cylinder is required. Complete sterilization can be obtained by placing the cylinder, after being cleansed by brushing, in a clean vessel with cold or tepid water and then boiling it for an hour.

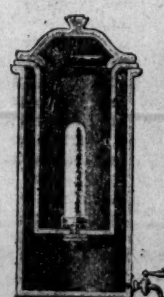

EVERY KITCHEN AND PANTRY SHOULD CONTAIN AS PART OF ITS STANDARD EQUIPMENT A BERKEFELD FILTER, AND SO SHOULD EVERY HOUSE AND SAILING BOAT.

The advantages claimed for Berkefeld Filters are:

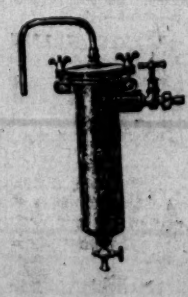

- 1.—They are simple in construction and can be easily cleaned and sterilised.
- 2.—They give a filtrate free from any suspended matter and from germs, provided proper attention be paid to regular cleansing and sterilising.
- 3.—They give an output of sterile filtrate from five to ten times larger than other germ-proof filters.

Bomb Wounds 11 At Great World Movie Show Sunday Night

Eleven guests at the Great World Amusement Park on Avenue Edward VII were injured on Sunday night when a bomb exploded in the cinema and threw the audience into a panic. Several letters threatening to blow up the place had been previously received by the management. But little attention was paid to them because former threats had merely resulted in the throwing of missives of the tin can variety.

The bombs was placed in the middle of the fourth row of the theater where it was thick with humanity. Shortly after 8 o'clock, someone stepped on the infernal machine and a great commotion ensued.
The wounded were Shen Ah-feng, an 18-year-old girl; Yang Tse-huang, a watch maker; Kuo Kwan, piece-goods broker; Chang Kung-kun, coolie of the Kiangfo steamer; and Chwang Teh-fu, Yoh Yu-ling, Tu Shou-ching, Yi Ling-ping, Liu Yong-shin, Chow Yih-sung and Mou Chai-sung, unemployed.

Rebel Activities Alarm Ireland

(Reuter's Service)
London, Feb. 3.—The rebel campaign of arson and destruction in reprisal for the Free State executions reached its height during the past week and included the destruction of the residences of two Senators and of a number of other prominent figures in the Free State, the burning of two main-line trains and the destruction of the Cavan-Leltrim railway locomotive works and also of Youghal's water supply.
The situation is so serious that the members of the Republican Army who left the Force when the Anglo-Irish Treaty was signed and did not take part in the civil war have convened a national convention for tomorrow with a view to making peace.
The latest utterances of de Valera and the Minister of Home Affairs, Mr. Kevin O'Higgins, however, do not suggest that the effort will be successful.
De Valera, interviewed at his hiding place, emphasised his intention of continuing the rebellion. He expressed the opinion that the Free State was doomed.
Mr. O'Higgins today retorted

Shipping Case Up
In American Court

At the U. S. Court for China yesterday, before Judge C. S. Lohmeyer, the case of Yu Fong Steamship Co. v. William Katz, trading under the name of Wu. Katz and Co., was heard.

Mr. H. D. Rodger appeared for the plaintiff, and Major Holcomb and Mr. J. B. Davies, of Davies and Bryan, were for the defense.

The plaintiffs set forth that they are a Chinese Company doing business in Shanghai, China, and that the defendant is an American citizen and sole proprietor of Wu. Katz and Co. On or about 20th of December, 1921, the plaintiff and the defendant entered into a time charter party by the terms of which the plaintiff chartered a steamship called the "Tien Hai" to the defendant upon the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in the said charter party.

After due demands the defendant has failed and refused to pay the plaintiff the said charter hire for the 5th and 6th months of the term thereof and it is now due and owing from the defendant to the plaintiff in the sum of Hongkong $26,296.35.

Mr. Davies said that the money for 5th and 6th months was not paid.

He further stated that he would ask for an adjournment as the documents, correspondence, as well as other papers are in the hands of arbitrators who are in Hongkong.

After a long discussion as to the adjournment, it was decided to continue the case next Monday.

29 Principals Of Kiangsu Schools
Resign In Body

The principals of twenty-nine government schools in Kiangsu province have tendered their resignation in a lengthy communication addressed to Mr. Han Kuo-chuan, Civil Governor of the province recently.

The reason for this wholesale resignation, as stated in the letter, is fourfold:

(1) The bill recently introduced in the Provincial Assembly, providing for a curtailment of the educational appropriations in the annual budget.

(2) The arrears of teachers' salaries and of other expenses incurred by the educational institutions, which has been a chronic impediment to the efficient administration of the various government schools.

(3) The political agitation which prevails among the student body.

(4) The system of political schools, which leads the members of the Provincial Assembly to ask the school authorities to award teaching positions to their own favorites.

Harbour Notification No. 4 of 1923

Harbour Regulations for the Port of Shanghai.

The attention of navigators is called to Clause No. 17 of the Harbour Regulations which reads as follows:

17.—"Vessels under way to the westward of the lower end of the Standard Oil Company's wharf shall proceed at no greater speed than is necessary to keep the vessel under control."

Several cases having occurred recently of damage caused to mooring ropes and wharves by vessels passing through the harbour at high speed, mariners are requested to observe strictly the above clause of the Harbour Regulations.

When near low water heavy vessels, besides proceeding at slow speed, should endeavour to give ships lying alongside wharves where the water is shallow as wide a berth as possible, as the suction caused under these conditions is liable to do damage.

Harbour Master officiating

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

February 5, 1923

Spot bar silver was down 1/4 d. and forward 1/4 d. in London on Saturday. The New York price declined to 63 1/2 cents and the London-New York cross rate improved to 468 1/2. The only change in our official quotations here from Saturday was a drop in the Franc rate to 1085.

Our market here this morning was steady to firm. At the opening a small business in Sterling was done at 3 1/4 for near delivery, 3 1/2 for February and 3 1/4 for March-April. Gold Dollars were done at the same time at 71 1/2 for near delivery, 71 1/4 for February and 71 for forward.

However, later on in the morning there were good sellers at these rates and at the Tiffin Interval banks were offering to sell 1/4 d. and 1/4 point in Gold Dollars above these quotations. Probably even better than this could have been gotten for near delivery.

Banks were as a rule good sellers for deliveries prior to China New Year and buyers for subsequent deliveries. Banks were quoting 3 1/4 and 3 1/2 for Sterling and Gold Dollar bills for delivery prior to China New Year and 3 1/4 and 73 for subsequent deliveries. There were probably buyers of Franc bills at 1135.

China sold silver in London on Saturday and the market is reported as having closed steady. New York reports the market as firm with buyers and no sellers at the official rate.

Chempedak Rubber Estate

At the annual meeting of shareholders in the Chempedak Rubber Company yesterday the Chairman, Mr. A. J. Welch, gave an interesting talk on the position of the industry, in the course of which he exploded certain fallacies of the enormous dividends that some people imagine the rubber companies would make with rubber standing in the region of 1s. 6d. per pound.

Although the results of the year's trading are not flattering, it looks as if the Company has rounded the corner, and an era of prosperous times is ahead of the concern. The financial position will certainly be improved if the new issue of shares that the Company has put forth is subscribed, for it will enable the deficit to be wiped out.

Then, again, there is the profit that is resulting by sale of crude rubber at the present good prices, and the Chairman has reason to be sanguine and to "look forward to the future with equanimity." The cost of production has been reduced from Straits cents 49.90 to 36.24 per pound. The profit of 32 cents per pound should prove very handsome if the raw product maintains its level.

In the course of his speech the Chairman said:

"The year's working, as you will see from the profit and loss account, has resulted in a loss of Tael 13,462.70, of which Tael 3,735.52 represents interest in advances and Tael 4,779.91 loss on exchange. This latter item arises from the fact that, although the sum due to the Agents in London is practically the same this year as it was last, the sterling has been converted into Tael at exchange 3 1/4 as compared with 4 1/2 last year. This result, covering as it does the worst 12 months of the recent slump in rubber, is not entirely unsatisfactory."

"Under the heading of cost of production, there is an error in the report for which I must apologise, the cost for last year should have been 49.90 cents instead of 62.23 cents as shown; this last figure represents the cost for 1919-1920 instead of that for 1920-1921. This year the cost at 36.24 cents again shows a large reduction but, in spite of the drastic economies that have been exercised, the estate is reported not to have suffered in any way. Directors' fees have been charged to profit and loss account, but the amount has again been credited to sundry creditors."

"In this connection I may tell you that, since the accounts were compiled, your Directors have decided to forego half their fees until such time as the Company is in a more flourishing financial position and the Secretaries have also agreed to reduce their remuneration temporarily, from Tael 250 to Tael 200 per month."

"The fees paid by this Company in the past have been moderate compared with those paid by many others, but on a small property such as this the cost per pound of these overhead expenses is very heavy and your Directors are now considering the desirability of trying to combine with some other contiguous property or properties, and thus reducing the cost per pound by spreading these charges over a larger output. I can say no more at the moment; gentlemen, as a proposal of this sort naturally requires the most careful thought and examination before anything definite can be done."

"Turning to the balance sheet there is very little that needs explanation. Capital expenditure having been reduced to the very minimum, only some Tael 215.94 having been spent on the upkeep of the immature area. The financial position of the Company on October 31, 1922 was that the cash liabilities exceeded the liquid assets by Tael 51,314.48 as compared with a deficit of Tael 37,635.84 at the end of last year. Since the end of the financial year this deficit has been reduced by the profit on the crops from November onwards, which is being utilised to liquidate the company's indebtedness to the London Agents. By this I mean that certain free shipments of rubber have been made to London, the proceeds of which will be retained by the Agents, in reduction of their loan."

you a brief outline of the manner in which the restriction scheme is intended to work. The committee that drafted the scheme endeavored to make it as flexible as possible and it is designed to prevent wide fluctuations in price and to keep it more or less steady at between 1s. 3d. and 1s. 6d. per pound, although, of course, special circumstances may arise to upset this intention.

"A standard output is assessed for each estate based on the actual output from November, 1919 to October, 1920 and on November 1 estates started exporting, at the minimum duty of 2 cents per pound, not more than 60 percent of this standard production. When the average price has been maintained at not less than 1s. 3d., London landed terms for three consecutive months the percentage of rubber exportable under the minimum duty will be raised by 5 percent in the ensuing quarter, or if maintained at not less than 1s. 6d. the percentage will be increased by 10 percent in the ensuing quarter. Conversely if during the second quarter after the initiation of the scheme or in any subsequent period of three consecutive months the price of rubber has not averaged at least 1s. per pound, the percentage of standard production that may be exported at the minimum duty will be reduced to 55 percent, and so on by reductions of 5 percent at the end of every 3 months until the average of 1s. 3d. is secured. The first period of 3 months expired on January 31 and as the price had not averaged

1s. 3d. no release of restriction was made, then next period for revision therefore falls due on May 1, 1923.

"Assuming that rubber averages 1-6 from now onwards, the percentages exportable under the minimum duty will be as follows: May-July quarter 70 percent, August-October quarter 80 percent, November-January quarter 90 percent. So, under the most favorable circumstances, it will not be possible under the scheme for estates to get back on to full production until February, 1924. If on the other hand rubber only averages 1s. 3d. from now onwards, full production will not be permissible until February, 1925. Such being the case, gentlemen, I think we may now look forward to the future with equanimity."

France For Naval Disarmament

Pressing debates upon the Ruhr crisis can be got out of the way the French Chamber of Deputies will be called upon shortly to ratify the naval treaty which was formulated at the Washington armament conference. M. Poincare, speaking to the Foreign Affairs Commission of the Chamber, has pledged his Government to support ratification of the agreement.

Much of the criticism of the naval agreement was due to irritation engendered by controversies over land armaments and submarines, and it was confined almost entirely to specialists and politicians. The people of France, despite her large sea coast, the growth of her colonial possessions and the fine traditions of her sea history, take but little active interest in their navy. The presence of Germany at the eastern gate has always made of the fleet a neglected second line of defense. Politics in the past entered the navy at both ends. Armaments and dockyards were, and still are, permeated by extremist drawn from ancient Breton and Norman stock, clinging to old traditions of French sea glory, without being too much concerned as to the political regime under which that glory was obtained.

Washington, as M. Poincare frankly admits, calls for no sacrifice from France. She could not, if she would, build capital ships for some years to come, and the absence of a large building program will give her a good chance to improve the training of officers and men and to grapple with the problem of disorganization in naval establishments on shore.

Criticism of the agreement has come from M. Mandel, one of M. Clemenceau's political offspring, and from M. Guernier, an important moderate member of the Chamber, who is reporter of the Foreign Affairs Commission. It is based upon France being placed on a naval level with her Latin sister Italy. In moments of international tension France is sometimes likely to look upon Italy more as a step-sister than as a sister, and even when the political sky is fair she likes to make it clear that she considers herself to be at least the eldest of the family.

The feeling that France should be the biggest Mediterranean naval Power undoubtedly exists, but it is not so strong as to imperil ratification of the Washington agreement when that agreement has the support of M. Briand, the leader of the Government, which preceded M. Poincare's, and M. Tardieu, the bitter critic of the present Cabinet. Debates may be hot, but the result cannot be doubted.

Like the various nations of the world we should worry about debts. We've got plenty of 'em.

This pagoda of piffle, you see, is written in spurts and jerks—and that happened to be the idea that was predominating our complex. Unseen action preceding this paragraph included our ordering a bottle of silent water for the sweet young thing at the adjoining type writer who was telling the office all about the tea dance. Mebbe she'll keep still now and we'll start counting up all over again.

WUHU

Foreign business men of Wuhu have gradually increased in numbers until there are at present about twice as many representatives in the different firms, with the exception of the shipping companies as there were ten years ago.

Wuhu occupies a strategic position as a distributing center. It is half way between Shanghai and Hankow on the Yangtze River and is the largest city between Nanking and Hankow. It compares well with Chinkiang as a point for distribution of imported articles. The city ranks seventh in size, in China, in the Custom's report for the value of imports and exports. When the water of the Yangtze is low in winter time, the larger ships can only navigate to Wuhu and there tranship their cargo for Kluikang and Hankow and other ports.

The Standard Oil Co. and the Asiatic Petroleum Co. have done a large business during the year, with the Texaco Oil Co. breaking into the field with a very good business for the first year. Mr. J. L. Lilley, manager of the Standard Oil Co. and Mr. P. J. Wilson, manager of the Asiatic Petroleum Co., have this year returned to America and England or furlough. The firms are now in charge of Mr. George Campbell and Mr. Rasmussen, respectively.

Fearon Daniel and Co. have established a branch office in Wuhu with a foreign representative, Mr. Henry F. Kay, in charge. They have leased for three months the offices and godowns built for the bankrupt firm of Humphreys' and Co., from the American-Oriental Bank of Shanghai, with the expectation of establishing the feather business for this section of Central China. The large feather press has been put in order by Mr. Kay, and a large force of women are daily sorting over feathers for shipment. The feather market has not been extremely active on account of the maximum prices offered in New York having reached their upper limit. They have also had considerable opposition from other buyers in Luchow and other centers which feed into Wuhu.

The shipping companies are handling a large volume of business. The China Merchants' Steamship Co. and the Hung On and Deh Hsing Company are preparing to fill the land which they have bought and occupy their new quarters on the main bund. Buttefield and Swire have their bulk opposite their godowns; and Jardine, Matheson and Co. have a fine new bulk in their new situation. Capt. and Mrs. Wortley who have just returned from furlough are living in the old bulk which was the home for so many years of Captain Johns and his family.

The large Japanese Ore Co., the Mitsui Bishi Kaisha are transhipping large quantities of iron ore from their barges to the large ocean going steamers constantly arriving at and going from their Wuhu headquarters. The Japanese are also interested in the building of a new launch to run from Nanking to Wuhu and Ta Tung. This will be the best launch in the local service.

The Chinese Cotton Mill has this year built a large addition to their plant and are running day and night as usual.

The large Chinese brick yard built by Lord Li and equipped with English ovens and machinery for the railroad, proposed a number of years ago, has been repaired and re-opened and is again turning out good red brick.

The Military Governor, Ma Da Ren, who lived in Wuhu, has been appointed to be Tuchun of Anhwei with headquarters in Anking. He has gone off to the conference of military chieftains in Peng Pu. He is an intelligent man and a man of considerable power among the military caste who rule China. His soldiers and subordinates have done nothing to control the opium business of the Yangtze River. It is generally understood and believed that the soldiers gain a large part of their revenue from the buying and selling of opium or the farming out of the privilege to do so. Ma Da Ren has kept peace in Wuhu and the immediate vicinity, so that there has been no rioting at all in the city proper and very little brigandage in the country.

The Japanese Consul has been appointed to Wuhu where he has established a residence. There are very few Japanese business men in Wuhu but the government evidently thinks there is an opportunity to develop trade and prestige, especially since the British Consulate has been discontinued.

The former home of the British Consul is now occupied by Mr. L. D. Drakeford of the Salt Gabelle. The main offices of the district may later be moved from Ta Tung where they are now located to Wuhu. It is difficult for the foreign salt commissioner to carry out any reforms as the appointment of officials of the Salt Gabelle is in the hands of the Chinese Superintendent. The salt officials not only do not prevent the smuggling and illegitimate sale of salt but actually encourage and control the smuggling of salt themselves. They keep no books and report practically no fines in large areas of the province. Mr. Drakeford, has made a stubborn and persistent fight against these evils.

Both the Wuhu Academy and the St. James High School have this year their largest enrollment of students on record.

The Sisters of the Transfiguration are developing a small but fine boarding school. They are also developing an Industrial School which has now an attendance of about fifty sewing women.

The Methodist Mission opened a boarding school at Green Hill a year ago. It is crowded to its capacity. All of the primary mission schools are flourishing, and the government schools both for women and men have full attendance.

A unique feature in educational affairs is the establishment of a Checkerboard School in Wuhu by the employees of the Ralston Purina Milling Co. of St. Louis, Mo. The Ralston Purina Co. has mills in America, in Buffalo, Fort Worth, Nashville, E. St. Louis and St. Louis with a large force of employees and salesmen turning out the famous Purina Chows and Ralston Cereal. They are raising funds for a model primary school, with public baths, reading rooms and industrial features of a community center. The salesmen are enthusiastic about their Checkerboard School in China and donate all the fines levied at their conventions for this charity. Many individual employees have adopted a Chinese student in the school.

The local organization which formerly conducted work similar to the Y.M.C.A. has just organized an official chapter of the Y.M.C.A. Mr. C. H. Plopper of the Christian Mission has resigned to become its first secretary. Dr. F. T. Djung, for twenty odd years with the Wuhu General Hospital was elected president of the Board of Directors. They have secured quarters in the business section, have their usual efficient night schools and are offering good movie films and other attractions to the young Chinese business men of the city.

The Famine Relief Committee of some years ago left $20,000.00 in charge of the Wuhu Dyke Repair Committee. The interest of this money has been used to build the new road on a dyke from Wuhu to the Asiatic Petroleum Co.'s Installation. Other main roads of Wuhu have been widened, straightened, and improved by the local road improvement society under the direction of Mr. Joe Wharton.

The ricksha men are taking advantage of the Ricksha Mission of Wuhu modelled somewhat upon the Shanghai Mission. Mrs. Keating is giving her whole time to the interest of these poor but hard working men.

We have been unusually free from infectious diseases for the past year, but small pox is now epidemic. There has been no Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Measles, Small-pox or Typhoid among the foreign population during the past year.

Dr. Robert E. Brown of the Wuhu General Staff is planning an anti-Smallpox campaign for vaccination. The Wuhu Dyke Repair Committee has granted $500 for this purpose. The plan is to give free vaccinations in various sections of the city as was recently done in the Shanghai Epidemic.

The Ideal Life Partner

BY DOROTHY DIX

A man asked me to give him my idea of the ideal husband and the ideal wife.

Of course, "there ain't no such animal," as the countryman observed when he first set eyes on a rhinoceros. Moreover, if there were such a creature as a perfect husband or a perfect wife, he or she would be unendurable to his or her poor, weak, faulting spouse, and the divorce docket would be swelled by one more couple seeking to have their matrimonial bonds severed because of incompatibility of temper. For people are so hard to stand as the overly good. Better a million times choose a cheerful sinner for a life partner than that unendurable affliction—a person who is always right.

Still, in our disgruntled hours, it is pleasant to dally with the dream of the ideal husband or wife, and to imagine what life might have been if only we had gotten the mates to which we were entitled.

I think that the ideal husband and wife are cut off of the same lot of cloth, and that they are much alike. There is no sex in the conjugal virtues, and the self-same qualities that make a man a desirable husband make a woman a desirable wife, and, paradoxically enough, the qualities that make a man and woman shining examples in the outside world do not make them shining examples in the shut-in world of home.

Some of the most successful men are utter failures as husbands and fathers. Some of our best citizens are the meanest husbands and fathers. There are angel women who are devils at home, and philanthropic ladies who spend their days making flannel petticoats for the heathen while their own children's stockings need darning.

All of us know men who are honest, and truthful, and moral, and sober, but who are so tyrannical and cross that their wives and children live in terror of them. All of us know women who are pillars of the church, and who spend hours on their knees praying for guidance, and who then get up and nag their families to death, and who are so narrow and bigoted, and have so little human sympathy that they alienate their husband and children from them.

What, then, are the qualities that the ideal husband and wife have?

First, efficiency. We must be comfortable physically before we can indulge in any other finer emotions. The pangs of hunger take precedence over the pangs of love. A serene and calm outlook on life is incompatible to one suffering from acute dyspepsia. Therefore, the ideal husband must be a man who is capable of making a comfortable living for his family, and the ideal wife must be a woman who knows how to run a home thriftily, and economically and without friction.

The happy home has no bill collector camping on the door step, nor does it set forth a dinner of overdone meat and underdone vegetables, or eat out of paper bags, and have to hold its clothes together with safety pins.

The next qualification of the ideal husband and wife is tolerance. Anyone who is old enough to get married should have had experience enough of life to know that he or she is not trying up with plaster saints, but with a very human person who has a thousand faults and weaknesses, and peculiarities and ways, and unless a man and woman are big enough and broad enough to take the other, including all faults, they should stay single.

The woman who accepts her husband's friends and makes them her own, who takes an interest in his golf or his pool, who humors his illusion that he knows how to make a salad dressing, and who laughs at his weaknesses instead of crying over them, has the most of the earmarks of the perfect wife. Nor does any woman ever dream of going back home to mother who has the luck to get a husband who indulges her little peculiarities, and recognizes her right to her hobbies.

The third qualification of the ideal husband and wife is cheerfulness. The man who comes home surly and grouchy, and who dumps all of his nerves and bad temper on the family hearthstone is a failure as a husband, no matter if he is as moral as Sir Galahad, and bedecks his wife in diamonds. The woman who is always whining and complaining is a failure as a wife, no matter if she can cook like a French chef, and save money like Hetty Green.

The people who are easy to live with, and who make matrimony worth while, are the men and women who bear their own worries in secret, and who consciously try to bring sunshine into each other's lives. After all, cheerfulness is just the brave attitude toward life, and nowhere else is it needed so much as in the family circle.

Finally, I would put appreciation as the most indispensable able losses at the hands of milliquity in the repertoire of virtues of the ideal husband and wife. Appreciation is the magic flower that has only to be laid upon the burden on the shoulders of a husband and wife to take the weight off the load, and make it light as a feather. Matrimony is hard going for every man and woman who undertakes it. It is bound to mean endless sacrifices, perpetual suppression of one's own inclinations and desires. It means work, and worry, and anxiety, and this is worthwhile or not, according to the appreciation they receive.

No man minds working for a woman who lets him see at every turn that she understands and appreciates all he is doing for her. No woman minds the sacrifices she makes for her husband if he tells her how grateful he is to her. Therefore the ideal married couple have "Thank you" always on their lips.

Efficiency, tolerance, cheerfulness, and appreciation, these are the qualities that make the ideal husband and wife. And love, of course, but unless you have the other qualities you won't have love long.

Hall's Distemper has led the way to a new era in house decoration—the era of brighter, cleaner and healthier homes.

It is the most durable of all decorations, lasting for years with freshness unimpaired, whereas wall-papers deteriorate from the first day by fading and accumulating dust and dirt.

Hall's Distemper is a thorough disinfectant, and is applied directly upon the wall, forming a hard surface, from which dust and dirt may be "spring-cleaned" by lightly sponging with warm water.

Avoid disappointment by refusing substitutes which do not possess its advantages.

Everyone interested in astronomy, and particularly in the romantic history of the five great men who established it in its modern form, should read a remarkable poem recently published, "The Watchers of the Sky," by Alfred Noyes, in which the story is told in a memorable manner, casting the glamor of poetry over the achievements and the thoughts of the greatest heroes of astronomy.

"The neighbors gossiped idly at the door,
Copernicus lay dying overhead,
His little throng of friends, with startled eyes,
Whispered together in that dark house of dreams,
From which, by one dim crevice in the wall,
He used to watch the stars.
A shadow moved towards him from the door.
Copernicus with a cry upraised his head.
"The book, I cannot see it, let me feel
The lettering on the cover.
It is here!
Put out the lamp now, draw those curtains back,
And let me die with starlight on my face."

From China To Tibet

General Pereira's 7,000 Mile Journey

Calcutta, (by mail).—Brigadier-General George Pereira, C.B., who set out on journey from Peking to Calcutta by way of Lhasa, arrived in Calcutta last December, completing a journey of over 7,000 miles. General Pereira traversed half this on foot and the strain has been so severe that he is now in a nursing home in Calcutta. There are clots of blood at the back of his left calf and he thinks he will have to remain in bed for two or three weeks. This has altered his plans somewhat, for he had intended to proceed to Delhi soon after his arrival and then go to Burma. A press representative, visiting General Pereira one day, found him in bed busy with maps. The General said his foot was frequently painful during the journey but it was never so bad as to prevent him from carrying out his intentions. On arrival at Gangtok, however, he had to take to his bed and the journey from Gangtok to Calcutta was made by motor car and train.

General Pereira left Peking in January, 1921. He knows Peking

very well having been Military Attaché at the Legation there for several years preceding the Great War. He had also been attached to a Chinese regiment prior to 1900 and in China in 1900, being slightly wounded in the campaign. From Peking to Lhasa it is 2,000 miles as the crow flies, but the General could not journey in so direct a manner. He went by train to Tientsin and on to Tai-yuan and then travelled by cart to Shansi. After crossing the Hwang-ho he travelled partly by train to Loyang, where he met General Wu Pei-fu who at the time of the meeting (last year) was the leader of the movement against Chang Tso-lin. General Pereira visited Sian-fu, the old Capital of China, and climbed the Hua-shan, which is one of the five sacred mountains of China. The climb was appalling. The mountain consists of great rocks all twisted and steep. Zig-zag paths wind upwards cut into the rocks in the form of irregular steps, some of which are a foot or two away from each other and on the sides of these paths are precipitous drops of 2,000 and more feet. The climb had to be made by using chains for hauling oneself up on the rock. Numerous small temples are scattered about. "It was one of the steepest climbs I've had," said General Pereira, "but it afforded a most magnificent view."

General Pereira next entered the notorious Province of Shensi, which, with his neighbor Szechuen, are the two most brigand-infested provinces of China. In one of these provinces there are reported to be 50,000 brigands. Just before General Pereira went through some brigands captured a missionary. These provinces are in an utter state of chaos; they do not recognise the authority of Peking. It is practically impossible to get through them unless you make some arrangement with the brigands. General Pereira visited the magistrate who discussed the matter with the brigands, and General Pereira was able to proceed unmolested. Chengtu was about the worst spot. Just beyond Chengtu lies a range of mountains which General Pereira visited for shooting. He found a delightful sport, but it was bitterly cold and he had his foot frost-bitten, forcing him to lie up for a month. A journey was next made into Tachientu, a region of China which is full of Tibetan tribes. General Pereira from here worked his way northwards through more country inhabited by the Tibetan tribes and so up the Min river into Kansu. Here he met the Prince of Chong, who has a vast tract of territory under his jurisdiction and is the biggest Tibetan Prince in the Province. The Prince is an old friend of General Pereira's and the General spent a very pleasant time shooting. From here the General went on to Sining-fu, which is inhabited by a great many Mahomedans under Ma-chi (Ma is the prefix of all Mahomedan families in Kansu). The Mahomedans do not hit it off with their neighbors and there are endless brawls. General Pereira proceeded to Tangar, which is the starting point of all caravans across Tibet. At Tangar, General Pereira engaged interpreters for the great journey, and bought eighteen mules and five horses and a quantity of supplies. He had to make his own saddles. General Pereira met Flemish missionaries at Tangar, who were very helpful.

The great journey across northeastern Tibet started last May. The first nine days were not unpleasant going. General Pereira met a number of nomads. The track, suited only to pack animals, lay across grass-land, but on the tenth day out they left the grassland and the nomads behind them and for the next seven or eight days saw not a tree nor a blade of grass, nor passed another human being. The mules suffered badly, five of the eighteen dying. Later they luckily met another caravan from whom General Pereira bought some yaks which are much harder animals and can stand the cold much better. The remaining mules were by this time not only unable to carry any loads but even without loads they were slower than the burdened yak and a halt had to be called every four or five days in order to rest the mules. North-eastern Tibet is a region of tremendous winds. The weather is most changeable, sun, rain, hail and snow succeeding each other in the course of an hour. Usually there was heavy rain at nights which were bitterly cold. It was quite pleasant in the middle of the day if there was no storm. The land lies in the form of a great plain with a few hills here and there. There are no trees at all. The height was well above 12,000 feet. In fact, during the whole of his journey across Tibet, General Pereira was at a height of over 12,000 ft., except for two descents to 10,000 ft., when he entered valleys. Towards the east during this great journey General Pereira saw a most wonderful mountain marked in the map as a range, but it is only a solitary mountain. It lay in a bend of the Yellow River, completely covered with snow, and of a great height; it may possibly be the highest mountain in the world for the height has never been scientifically measured.

After this appalling journey across northeastern Tibet General Pereira says it was a relief to get into Jeykundo where he found a few shops. Here he met Madame Neel, a French Buddhist lady, who was the only European that General Pereira met during his entire journey across Tibet down to Gyantze, which is a British trade center. After crossing the Yangtze-kang the country was different. The valleys were clothed with trees and barley was in cultivation. General Pereira halted for forty days at Champo awaiting permission to enter Lhasa, for the journey for the messenger was one of 700 miles each way. This was a year of record floods in Tibet and some of the very few bridges across the rivers suffered. General Pereira found the bridge across the Salween in a damaged state and had to proceed westwards by another route. To the south-east is a jumble of mountains and valleys. The entire going was up and down, for there was not a flat spot.

At Lhasa General Pereira was made most welcome. He arrived there last October and stayed for about ten days as the guest of Tharagong Shago, the Commander-in-Chief of the Tibetan Army. The Commander-in-Chief is a young man, about 38 years of age. He is learning English, and has a daughter in school in Darjeeling. He was most friendly in his welcome and made the General his guest, providing him with a villa in the best residential suburb of Lhasa. In this suburb, which is the western suburb, there are all six or seven villas, each situated in most pleasant grounds. One of these villas is occupied by the Dalai Lama, who does not now live in the Potala. The only modern road in Tibet runs from the Potala to this suburb.

General Pereira said he was made most welcome everywhere he went in Tibet. In every village in which he rested deputations of villagers, led by the headman, waited on him with gifts, bringing him vegetables and meat in great quantities.

From Lhasa the journey to Calcutta lay along a fairly familiar route. At Gyantse and at Yatung there are British trade agents. At Gangtok, the capital of Sikkim, there is a British Resident. From the Residency General Pereira came by way of Kalimpong on to Calcutta.

Copernicus And His Predecessors

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS
Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest

"Who was the first astronomer to recognise the sun in the center of our solar system and to give proof of its position?"—H. J. Smith, Chicago.

Pythagoras, the Greek philosopher and mathematician of the sixth century B.C., seems to have had at least the germ of the idea. He and his disciples taught that the earth was a globe and that it revolved, together with the other planets, then known—Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn—around a central "fire." However, they just missed the truth, for they thought that the central fire was not the sun, but an invisible blazing body, relatively close to the earth, around which all the others, including the sun, revolved.

The central fire was invisible from the earth because of the existence of a huge black body called the "antichthon," or the "Altar of Nature," which, in some manner not clearly explained, shut off the view of the "fire."

Aristarchus of Samos, in the third century B.C., was the first, as far as known, to affirm distinctly that the earth revolved around the sun, but if he offered any proofs of his theory they have not come down to us. He also said that the earth rotated on its axis while revolving around the sun. Thus he anticipated the two main features of the Copernican system. Other early Greek philosophers seem to have more or less clearly guessed the truth about the rotation and revolution of the earth.

Archimedes of Syracuse, one of the greatest scientists of ancient times, has left accounts of Aristarchus's ideas, but it does not appear that he himself advocated the heliocentric theory.

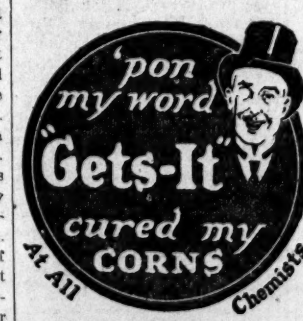

From Aristarchus to Copernicus was a gap of about nineteen centuries, covering the times of some of the greatest men and the greatest empires and civilisations that the earth has known, and during all that period the learned world remained ignorant of the true form of the solar system. Aristarchus's ideas being discarded.

Since we do not know just what arguments Aristarchus employed we are unable to say that he proved his case, so that to Copernicus, the Polish monk, must be ascribed the honor of being the first man positively known to have recognised and offered proof of the sun's position at the gravitational focus of the solar system.

In his book on "The Revolutions of the Celestial Orbs," Copernicus proves by the same kind of reasoning that we should use today that the dry land and the seas taken together form a surface of a globular body, the earth; that the motions of the sun and other heavenly bodies are most easily explained by regarding them as apparent, or relative, motions, produced in part by the earth's rotation on its axis, in part by the earth's revolution around the sun, and in part by the revolution of the other planets around the sun.

However, because of the lack of exact observations in his time, Copernicus was unable to complete the proof of the correctness of his theory, and he had to introduce some entirely false assumptions, based on the erroneous conceptions that had prevailed among the older astronomers. But he held the main idea, that of the central position of the sun, and the yearly revolution of the earth around it, so firmly and employed such convincing arguments, as far as they went, that succeeding astronomers have universally granted his claim to be the real founder of the heliocentric

French Unable To Balance Budget

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Feb. 5.—Though the Chamber of Deputies recently adopted the Budget it did not succeed in balancing the revenue and expenditure and the Finance Commission of the Senate has now refused to examine the Budget before the Chamber has succeeded in balancing it.

A sub-committee recently appointed in this connection by the Finance Commission of the Chamber has decided to submit to bankers and financiers a scheme whereby taxation officials will be empowered to enter banks and examine accounts.

The sub-committee will subsequently, with the Minister of Finance, investigate further methods of reducing expenditure and of creating fresh taxation resources to replace the 20 per cent general increase in taxation which has been dropped.

After that an attempt will be made to draft a bill for presentation to the Chamber.

Chinese Officials Solely To Blame If
Opium Is Imported

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Feb. 5.—Reuter's Agency is authorized to make the following statement in regard to a letter addressed to the Press by the General Secretary of the International Anti-Opium Association on January 26 last in which the writer asserts that China is being fettered by foreign treaty rights in her "laudable efforts" to control the drug traffic and that in particular she is unable to fulfil her compact with the League of Nations in the matter of the issue of import certificates owing to the existence of the foreign settlements and concessions:

"As far as the British are concerned legislation now in force, though it may not be identical with that prescribed by the League of Nations, does in fact, restrict the import of narcotics by British subjects to medical and scientific uses only."

"The bond signed by the importer before his Consul, under Rule IV. of the Customs tariff, besides giving full particulars as to quantity and value, guarantees that the articles imported will be employed for medical purposes only either in private practice or in some specified hospital and the drugs cannot be imported until a special landing permit has been issued by the Chinese Maritime Customs."

"So it is not the British Consul but the Chinese Government through its representative the Commissioner of Customs that issues the 'import certificate' and the writer is therefore entirely wrong in saying the 'present system allows individual importation by Consular permits.'"

"His inference that extraterritoriality prevents China from fulfilling her compact with the League of Nations is also entirely unjustified; on the contrary it may be said without fear of contradiction that the presence of British and other foreign settlements and concessions in the principal ports of foreign entry into China is of material assistance in regulating the drug traffic and checking smuggling—as witness the effective manner in which the police of the international foreign settlement at Shanghai co-operate with the Chinese Customs in their constant fight with the opium smugglers."

"To say, at a time when opium is openly grown in all parts of the country, in many places under official compulsion, when it is being transported by the ton from one place to another in packages under official seals, when opium smuggling on an organized scale has assumed dimensions which have recently led the Inspector General of Customs publicly to recommend legalisation of the trade as the only remedy for an intolerable situation—that China in her laudable efforts to control the drug traffic is 'up against foreign treaty rights' is nothing less than a travesty of the truth."
